

IG Gotthardbahn - Modellbauanlage

GuideProxy

Exhibition about the early days of the GB "Gotthard Railway" with model railroad operation.

Regular steam trains have long since ceased to run over the Gotthard. The steam era ended with electrification in 1920 and remained alive until the late 1960s with increasingly rare operations. Today, it is preserved in pictures, books and sometimes even films. In addition, it has been under construction again for years in a multi-dimensional way: As a model construction facility of the IG Gotthardbahn. Currently with models of the Göschenen, Wassen and Amsteg-Silenen stations. In addition, various bridges and a new module of the southern side of the Alps "Dazio Grande". Also "Lokremise Winterthur".
