Sun's Sons - this is the up-and-coming band from Frankfurt that has attracted attention both online and at their live shows over the last two years with a balancing act between danceable indie pop and intimate ballads. The songs of the five young musicians are exuberant and thoughtful, political and personal, self-reflective and full of "pathos" (FAZ).

Their first two EPs will finally be followed by their debut album "An Odyssey" on November 10, 2023. The sons of the sun mark a new beginning (everything in production and ambition is bigger, richer, bolder) and at the same time show their constants and strengths: Time and again, they vacillate between hope and hopelessness, speaking from the soul of a generation of young people who are having the rug pulled out from under them every day and who have learned to hold on to each other.
