The Colombian Pavilion - a former EXPO building in Hanover - invites you to eat and linger with a direct view of the Allersee. The attractive location of the building with its spacious outdoor terrace and platform on the water takes guests on a culinary journey: here, international crossover cuisine meets Colombian accents. Special highlights include the in-house confectionery "Süsse Werkstatt" and the coffee roastery with products that are also suitable for consumption outside the restaurant.

Modern elements and a new kitchen under new management create a unique symbiosis of dynamic experience and exciting enjoyment in an exposed location. Visitors can feast and relax at the same time. The ambience and the direct connection to the inner-city recreational area offer visitors the choice of an exciting and varied programme with various events and promotions at the weekends.

There is certainly something for every guest: for example, early birds can look forward to a generous breakfast buffet at the weekend. The lunch menu is tailored to small appetites or balanced business lunches and in the afternoon, sweet treats from the show bakery round off the daily programme.

If you'd like to eat out with friends, family or business partners, you'll not only find an exclusive selection of fresh dishes on the evening menu, the staff on site will also be happy to advise you on individual occasions, such as christenings, birthdays, confirmations, etc., to suit your taste.
