Impressionism. The art collection is housed in the building designed by Cologne's star architect Oswald Mathias Ungers, which was opened in 2001 and impresses with its clear proportions. In the spacious foyer of the building and in the Stiftersaal - a gem that stretches upwards over two floors and offers a fantastic view of the ruins of St Alban's with a 9m x 9m window area. In a central location in Cologne's city centre, it is an ideal and special conference or celebration location.
