The Bödeliweg path, which leads through Interlaken and Unterseen, is a great way to discover the many little crafts shops lining the route.

The Bödeliweg traces a circular course around Interlaken and Unterseen, starting and ending on Postplatz. Along the way, you will pass numerous little shops upholding the venerable tradition of craftsmanship or showcasing a sustainable, environmentally sound approach to business. You will find a milliner, a leather worker, a turnery, a woodcarver and more – and of course their products are for sale. You can also stop for a relaxing coffee break at the "spatz - gastro & so" café. The circular path, which spans 1.3 kilometres, takes around 90 minutes (allowing for visits to shops).
