Admire the wide variety of traditional and culturally significant woodcarvings from the region

Brienz has a long tradition of woodcarving, a craft that shaped the village in the 19th century. Admire the collection of artwork from different eras. The museum has a wide variety of traditional and culturally significant woodcarvings from the region.

The Swiss Woodcarving Museum in Brienz is the first museum dedicated solely to the art of woodcarving. Numerous works by sculptors from various eras have been exhibited in the listed Jobin factory building since 2009. Discover the history of woodcarving in Brienz and admire the detailed figures, filigree ornaments and lifelike animal sculptures. Each year a different special exhibition can be visited alongside the permanent exhibition.
