Discover a breathtaking world of action and adventure

Visit the impressive natural spectacle and admire the 300-metre-high rock faces in Grindelwald's Glacier Canyon. A walkway takes you along a one-kilometre-long gorge through rock galleries and several tunnels. A real highlight is the 170 m2 "spider's web", a walkable construction, which stretches across the gorge and offers thrills and a spectacular view.

The gorge of the Lower Grindelwald Glacier is a breathtaking natural masterpiece. The gorge was formerly covered by glacial ice and its 300-metre rock walls still bear witness to glacier's immense power. A spectacular walkway takes you deep into the gorge, past moulins, glacial polish and pink and green blocks of marble. The tour takes you through rock galleries and several tunnels, providing a unique experience for all your senses. Listen to the thundering of the water cascading down the Lutschine, feel the bracing wind and admire how the light changes in the gorge. On the way you will learn exciting and sometimes surprising facts about geology, glaciers, water and mysticism. A real highlight is the 170 m2 "spider's web" net. The walkable net stretched across the gorge ensures a unique perspective. Experience the huge thrill of balancing on the net.
